NEW TURN IN SHEPHERD TRIAL

Religious Insanity Blamed In Weird Rites

DOROTHY SHIELDS SLAYER, HINTED

NEW DEFENSE INDICATED IN "JAZZ" MURDER

Ellingson Girl Collapses Second
Time at Close of Court Proceedings Yesterday

FAIL TO SELECT A JURY

Rumor That Girl is Shielding The
Real Culprit is Neither Affirmed or Denied(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Dorothy Ellingson fell down in a dead faint tonight at the close of a prolonged court session.

The 16-year-old girl on trial for the murder of her mother slumped to the floor for the second time during the day's session.

She collapsed just at the door of the courtroom. Attendants rushed her to the jail infirmary, where she was revived.

Dorothy's faint marked the end of a long grind in a fruitless effort to obtain a jury to try the first matricide case on record in California. Shortly before 6 o'clock tonight the jury panel was exhausted with the jury box still unfilled. A new panel will be drawn tomorrow, when efforts will be continued to name the twelfth juror, eleven having been passed.

TRIAL MAY BE HALTED

While it was said the girl's condition following her breakdown tonight, was not critical, it may be found necessary to at least temporarily halt the trial.

Dorothy's attorneys declared they were anxious to obtain the jury and proceed with the trial as soon as possible respecting the girl's reputed request "to get it over with."

NEW ANGLE INDICATED

Indications of the possible new angle of defense on the theory that Dorothy is shielding the real slayer of her mother, caused uneasiness in ranks of the prosecution. In the face of the fact that most of the jurors have been selected following declaration of their willingness to recognize insanity as a defense, this late turn came as a surprise.

Attorney Walter McGovern for the defense, refused to explain this question and would neither affirm nor deny that the defense will contend that another than his auburn-haired client murdered Mrs. Ellingson.

During the noon recess, Earl Ellingson, brother of Dorothy, protested to her counsel against continuation of the trial. He had witnessed his sister's collapse, but had been shut out of the jury room to which she was carried by a bailiff. His father, Joseph Ellingson, cried bitterly as the lock of the door snapped in his face.

"Dorothy can't stand another day of this," Earl told the attorneys. "Just look at her. She's a wreck of what she was."

BROKEN BUTTERFLY GIRL

Despite his appeal, Attorney Alexander Mooslin, chief counsel for Dorothy, decided not to ask the court for a postponement.

The broken butterfly girl was closely watched throughout the afternoon. Two police women, one with trained nurse experience, sat near her in court, and a special restroom has been set aside for emergency use.

Throughout the afternoon she sat

LEADERS OF STRANGE CULT UNDER QUERY

DEATH FROM BURNS HINTED

Indignant Community Further
Startled by Claim of Reincarnation of Adam(By Universal Service)
OROVILLE, Cal., March 26.—Investigation of the sanity of a score or more persons branded by the "flaming sword" of the "Roaring Lion of the House of Judah" as impersonated by Mrs. Anna Rhodes, high priestess of a weird religious cult was ordered Thursday by District Attorney William Rothe. A grand jury will attempt to bring out facts which Rhodes says are being concealed from him, and to determine whether the death of Herman Schallow, a devotee, resulted from infliction of burns upon his nude body by Mrs. Rhodes, his sister. That many other than Schallow underwent the ceremony of "fire purification," was announced by Rothe, who admitted he had not been able to secure sufficient proof so far to name them in indictments which he will ask for the grand jury.

Mrs. Rhodes, he said, will be the first person whose sanity will be questioned. Edward Rhodes, her husband, Mrs. Schallow and others identified with the fire ceremony and made dances conducted at the Rhodes home also will be hailed before a lunacy court.

GARDEN OF EDEN CLAIMED.

Mrs. Rhodes further startled this indignant community Thursday when she declared that her home at Biggs 13 miles from Oroville is the original Garden of Eden, recreated by divine dispensation.

"I am Eve, Ed, my husband, is Adam," Mrs. Rhodes shouted. "We are re-incarnated. I was named a disciple of God to purge my brother and other by fire."

The nude dances performed by the Rhodes, their children and neighbors, she declared, were sacred ceremonies.

Now members of the Ed and Frank Rhodes families gathered in a room at Ed Rhodes home, stripped themselves and proceeded to enact Garden of Eden scenes a few days prior to the torturing of Schallow, was related by Frank Rhodes.

He also told how the blood of animals was used in wild sacrificial ceremonies and on one occasion a live lamb was burned.

WALKED OVER BODY.

Mrs. Francis Schallow, widow of the dead man, walked over his prostrate body a few days before he faced the fire ordeal, Frank Rhodes declared, and then stamped on his toe with her feet as a means of giving him the "Holy Ghost."

A few of the neighbors of the Rhodes are scandalized, but the refusal of many others to discuss the affair lends color to Rothe's statement that the fire purification ceremony was visited on others than Schallow.

Biggs folk, apparently were suffering from burns or other injuries following several frenzied religious meetings held at the Rhodes home, Rothe declared.

Masonic Temple May Be Added To Civic Center By Offer of Ground

It is possible that the Civic Center which now contains the city hall, may be increased by the addition of a beautiful Masonic Temple.

E. J. Burg, has made an unusual offer to the Masonic Temple Association of Richmond. In a letter addressed to C. C. Olney, the secretary of the association, he this week offered to donate to the fraternity four lots at the corner of 25th and Nevin, and since the first offer was made he has added another lot to it making five lots in all, which would give a frontage of 100 feet on Nevin and 125 feet on 25th street.

The value of the lots offered would be in the neighborhood of $15,000. It is the firm belief of Mr. Burg that the great growth of the city in the future will be toward the east, and that the future value of the lots he offers for a site, will be far greater than the lots the association has purchased on Nevin between 7th and 8th streets.

The offer will be taken up by the Masonic Temple Association at its next meeting and considered.

West Side Fire Limit Question To Be Tested Out

The principal topic for discussion at the meeting of the West Side Progressive association, held in Pt. Richmond last night was the removing of the fire limits in the West Side.

Fire Chief W. P. Cooper gave a talk in regard to this matter in which he explained that it appeared that the West Side by this action was trying to go back instead of ahead. He stated that instead of removing the fire limits, building owners need only to get in touch with the city council to obtain the necessary permits for remodeling buildings.

It was decided to have the committee get in communication with one of the property owners in that district who contemplated remodeling a building and request him to endeavor to obtain the permit from the city council as a demonstration of what could be done in that way, were taking further action on the matter.

E. J. Esola presided over the meeting last night, at which three new members were taken into the association. Tentative plans for a whist at some future date were made, but very little was done about the affair as it is not expected that the party will be given for some time.

Rotary Club Meets Today at Luncheon

The Richmond Rotary club will be entertained at its luncheon today with a talk by N. W. Stern, president of the Pacific Sanitary Manufacturing company. The porcelain industry will be discussed.

The chairman of the day will be James Cravath; A. C. Burdick will deliver the business talk, and A. F. Papadakis will make the presentation.

At the meeting today, nomination of candidates for president and four directors of the club will be made.

TWO BODIES TO BE EXHUMED IN MURDER QUERY

Shepherd may Have Slain Mother
Of His Ward and Doctor
She Expected to Wed

TO GET McCLINTOCK MILLIONS

Circumstances Seem to Link
Ophan's Heir with Individuals
Long Buried(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, March 26.—Two, possibly three, long buried individuals are to be exhumed by the authorities in their search for proof of the charge that William L. Shepherd killed his millionaire ward, William Nelson McClintock, in order to inherit his fortune.

The body of Mrs. Anna Nelson McClintock, the youth's mother, who died 16 years ago, will be removed from the family plot tomorrow. Within a day or so the body of Dr. Harry Olson, her physician, and reported to have been engaged to her at one time, also will be exhumed.

If the consent of the authorities of another state can be obtained, a third body, that of a person through whose death Shepherd benefitted financially long ago also may be exhumed.

State authorities are proceeding on the theory that if Shepherd poisoned young McClintock, he may also have poisoned the youth's mother and the physician who, if he had lived, might have wed her and thus removed any chance Shepherd had of getting the McClintock millions.

TWO SURPRISE SPRING

Official announcement of the exhumation program and the partial identification of Shepherd by two men as the individual who bought home laboratory apparatus from the supply house where they were employed, came as twin surprise moves by the state today.

There are circumstances in connection with the death of Mrs. McClintock and Dr. Olson which link Shepherd with them, the state's attorney's office asserted. Mrs. McClintock had been visiting the Shepherds in their Texas home three weeks before she died. She started for Chicago stopping off enroute at a resort for treatment for rheumatism. When it was thought she was dying Mrs. Shepherd came to her bedside in Chicago and was named guardian for Billy, along with Attorney Alexander Reichmann, a few hours before his mother died. Shepherd did not arrive until the day after the funeral.

It was charged at the Billy McClintock inquest, and denied, that the funeral of Mrs. McClintock was unduly hastened.

DIED AFTER EATING FRUIT

The body of Dr. Olson, who died a few hours after receiving a basket of fruit from Shepherd, turned a peculiar shade of pink soon afterwards, it is charged. This, medical men assert, is a condition which might point to prussic acid poisoning.

"The toxicologists who will examine the bodies will search for every known poison," Coroner Oscar Wolf asserted. "If anything suspicious is developed, inquests over both bodies will be ordered."

The partial identification of Shepherd as the purchaser of a micro-

THE ROLE OF AUDICITY

The senate of the United States, as an old cowpuncher friend used to say, "had better look a little out." Mr. Coolidge has amply demonstrated his ability to accomplish his ends by the sheer use of an unexpected ruse. Of course he has undertaken nothing that has not had right back of it, else this strategy would have availed him little.

In considering his motives in cheekily presenting the name of Charles B. Warren a third time for confirmation as his attorney, general, the senate should look back a short year and note Mr. Coolidge calmly and invariable fixing his signature to a veto of the soldier bonus and the postal pay bill. It will be recalled—and how can even the short memories of the American people fail?—that his chief objections to those measures was that they carried no provision for paying their own way. They both are laws now, but it will be noted that in each case, a legislative act has been passed to provide for just those faults he criticized. The postal pay bill is joined with a measure to increase the rates so as to make the business of carrying the mails carry its own burden. The bonus measure now is backed by an appropriation bill that provides the money for carrying it into effect.

President Coolidge has taken the unexpected course many times and to the amazement of the politicians in congress, he has got through to his avowed goal.

In the campaign, he outraged a number of feelings. But he clung so steadfastly to the ideals of the American people that he presented him with the champion presidential majority in all the world's history. Never since man began selecting his own leaders by his free-will expression, have so many persons concurred in the choice of a national chieftain.

The administration senators who could be so finally courageous as to blast insurgents out of their place of power, should not now be timorous.

THE SHAKE-UP

The family less and the individual more is the trend of times. Instead of a stigma, divorce now is a concomitant of some sorts of success.

In New York's social register, however, it is still recognized that the foundation of the institution of society is the family and the individual is but an element.

The world seems to be in a period of sifting. People are trying out new mates and shaking things up when dissatisfied so as to try other new ones. The cause may be in the regard people now have for one another.

Marriage used to be based on other considerations than love of the individuals. There is evidence that self-love now may be a strong factor.

Then there are fundamental changes in the nature of affection. We quote:

Professor Robert Herrick, of the University of Chicago, said at a Blackstone luncheon:

"I see by the papers that in the Windy City last year there was one divorce for every seven marriages. The Victorians thought love was eternal, but the young people of Chicago do not share the Victorian view."

"A young engaged couple were discussing their honeymoon. 'I suggest,' said the young man, 'a ten days tour to Havana.' 'Oh, no,' said the girl. 'You know how afraid I am of seasickness, darling.'"

"Love is a preventative of seasickness," he assured her tenderly. "Yes, of course," said the girl, "but," she added, "how about the voyage back?"

THE ROAD TO PROGRESS IN RADIO

Discussing radio, Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce, says:

"There can be but one point of view in the consideration of radio regulation and development. That is to assure increasing service to the listener. The radio is steadily enriching our homes. More particularly to our farmer folks it is bringing more of those contacts that the town populations have long enjoyed up to this time. The road of progress is to stimulate the development of the art; to secure greater perfection of reception, increase in the number of alternative programs and better programs."

Concerning charges of radio monopoly which have been made. Mr. Hoover says:

"There is no monopoly of radio broadcasting or any sign of it. There are only four or five concerns in the entire United States which own or operate more than one station and of the total of 563 stations in action, not more than four belong to any one of them."

Behold the Moulded Silhouette That Will Add New Charm to Frocks of Spring and Summer.

AT last—at long last—the moulded silhouette is announced. No one who knows anything of fashion or of human nature could have thought that the straight, severely vestigial figure would remain indefinitely. No one could have thought that waistlines and hips and other time-honored curves and decarities from off the face of the fashion-plate forever. The reaction was inevitable and the more severely vertical the frocks became the more it seemed that the reaction would come soon.

Yet such inevitable fashion reactions are not quite so simple as they may seem. They are not governed by anything so definite and unvarying as the swinging of the pendulum or a clock. There are numerous little deterrents. In the case of the straight up and down frock there was the fact that women have become much more athletic. If they are not positively athletic they are far more active physically. That seems to be a definite bit of progress and nothing short of an enormous upheaval in economic conditions and a changing of prevailing trends of thought could bring back the ideal of feminine fragility and delicacy that would make the tight waists and other details of Victorian costume possible.

Then another thing: Since moulded silhouettes were in fashion before a far larger proportion of women buy their frocks ready-made. There are comparatively no little dressmakers nowadays. The young women who buy so much material and so much trimming and takes it to the dressmakers to be made up are hard to find. She either buys her frock ready-made, manages to make it herself, or, if she be well supplied with lure, puts the whole matter in the hands of some dress-making establishment. The enormous majority of women buy their clothes ready-made. And the moulded silhouette offers certain difficulties for the ready-made frock. At least the frock moulded with any-

HOME-MADE ZWIEBACK

One cake yeast, one half cup milk, scalded and cooled, two tablespoons sugar, two eggs, one-fourth cup lard or butter, melted, two and three-fourths cups sifted flour, one-half teaspoon salt.

Dissolved yeast and sugar in tepid flour and mix well. Cover and set aside in a warm place, to rise for one hour. Add lard or butter, eggs previously beaten, about two cups of flour, and salt. Knead, shape into two rolls, one and one-half inches thick, and fifteen inches long. Prick with a fork and let rise until light. Bake about a quarter of an hour in a hot oven. When cool cut diagonally into one-half inch slices. Place on baking sheet and brown in a moderate oven.

Things like the dressmaker that was known twenty years ago does.

So the problem is to find a type of frock that will not present too many difficulties to the maker of ready-made clothes for women who do not want to be bothered even with alterations, a frock that is comfortable, and possesses at the same time those obvious and indisputable advantages characteristic of the frock that shows more closely the outline of the human form. The French dressmakers are leading in the way with frocks that by means of cleverly devised yokes, gorges, tucks and other contraptions do give more outline. Apparently they are not trying to solve the problem by means of the raised waistline. Waistlines, in the sense of a definite boundary between bodice and skirt, are really extinct. If there is any waistline at all in the new things it is lower than ever.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitaphone Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

For months, Baree, the wolf-dog, carried on a ceaseless search for Nepeese, the Indian girl who had been his best friend. Over all the old trails and by the familiar pool he searched, for he well knew that something had gone out of his life. He did not know that Nepeese, in escaping the wolf, came off the trail of the wolf, the brutal factor, had lost herself to the bottom of a deep abyss.

CHAPTER XXV

The trap-line of Pierre Eustach ran thirty miles straight west of Lac Bain. It was not as long a line as Pierre's had been, but it was like a main artery running through the heart of a rich fur country. It had belonged to Pierre Eustach's father, and his grandfather, and his great-grandfather, and beyond that it reached, Pierre averred, back to the very pulse of the finest blood in France. The books at McTaggart's post went back only as far as the great-grandfather end of it, the older evidence of ownership being at Char-chill. It was the finest game country between Reindeer Lake and the Barren Lands. It was in December that Baree came to it.

Again he was travelling southward in a slow and wandering fashion, seeking food in the deep snows. The Kistisew Kestlin, or Great Storm, had come earlier than usual this winter, and for a week after it scarcely a hoof or claw was moving. Baree, unlike the other creatures, did not bury himself in the snow and wait for the skies to clear and crust to form. He was big, and powerful, and restless. Less than two years old, he weighed a good eighty pounds. His pads were broad and wolfish. His chest and shoulders were like a Malemute's, heavy and yet muscled for speed. He was wider between the eyes than the wolf-bred husky, and his eyes were larger, and entirely clear of the Wuttoo, or blood-film, that marks the wolf and also to an extent the husky. His jaws were like Kazan's, perhaps even more powerful. Through all that week of the Big Storm he travelled without food.

There were four days of snow, with driving blizzards and fierce winds, and after that three days of intense cold in which every living creature kept to its warm dugout in the snow. Even the birds had burrowed themselves in. One might have walked on the backs of caribou and moose and not have guessed it. Baree sheltered himself during the worst of the storm but did not allow the snow to gather over him.

Every trapper from Hudson's Bay to the country of the Athabasca knew that after the Big Storm the famished fur animals would be seeking food, and that traps and deadfalls properly set and baited stood the biggest chance of the year of being filled. Some of them set out over their trap-lines on the sixth day; some on the seventh, and others on the eighth. It was on the seventh day that Bush McTaggart started over Pierre Eustach's line, which was now his own for the season. It took him two days to uncover the traps, dig the snow from them, rebuild the fallen "trap-houses," and rearrange the baits. On the third day he was back at Lac Bain.

It was on this day that Baree came to the cabin at the far end of McTaggart's line. McTaggart's trail was fresh in the snow about the cabin, and the instant Baree sniffed of it every drop of blood in his body seemed to leap suddenly with a strange excitement. It took perhaps half a minute for the scent that filled his nostrils to associate itself with what had gone before, and at the end of that half-minute there rumbled in Baree's chest a deep and sullen growl. For many minutes after that he stood like a black rock in the snow, watching the cabin. Then slowly he began to crouch about it, drawing nearer and nearer, until at last he was sniffing at the threshold. No sound or smell of life came from inside, but he could smell the old smell of McTaggart. Then he faced the wilderness—the direction in which the trap-line ran back to Lac Bain. He was trembling. His muscles were assembling more and more vividly in his mind—the fight in the cabin, Nepeese, the wild chase through the snow to the chasm's edge—even the memory of that age-old struggle when McTaggart had caught him in the rabbit snare. In his white there was a great yearning, almost expectation.

Slowly he followed the trail and a quarter of a mile from the cabin struck the first trap on the line. Hunger had caved in his sides until he was like a starved wolf. In the first trap-house McTaggart had placed a bait the hind-quarter of an incautious rabbit. Baree reached incautiously. He had learned many things on Pierre's line; he had learned what the snap of a trap of steel jaws; he knew better than the shrewdest fox what a deadfall would do when the trigger was sprung—and Nepeese herself had taught him that he was never to touch a poison-bait. So he closed his teeth gently in the rabbit flesh and drew it forth as cleverly as McTaggart himself could have done. He visited five traps before he reached the sixth without springing a pan. The sixth was a deadfall. He circled about this until he had beaten a path in the snow. Then he went on into a warm balsam swamp and found himself a bed for the night.

GIDEON CLUB STAGES BIG "HOT DOG" FEED

The Gideon club met in regular business session at the First Baptist church in Tenth street last night with Ralph Cunningham, acting as chairman in the absence of President C. E. Parker. The most appetizing "feed" ever put on by the men of the club was served after all the business was settled by a committee headed by Dave Dillabaugh, assisted by Randy Mueller and George Fisher. The dinner consisted of "hot dogs" and sauerkraut, and was served in large enough quantities so that all were able to consume as much as desired.

Plans were entered into about a special meeting to be held on April 9, and particular efforts are to be made to obtain a well-known speaker for the occasion.

Club Mendelssohn Gives Version Of Carmen Opera

Mrs. Elton Warner, president of the Alameda district, State Federation of Women's clubs, was a guest of the Club Mendelssohn which met yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. E. Cunningham, 440 Alvarado street.

A delightful feature of the program was the fantasy of the opera "Carmen", after Bizet's charming story had been reviewed by Mrs. Charles Lipp.

The characters were all in costume and everyone joined in proclaiming this the best meeting of the year.

The cast of the opera follows: Carmen—Mrs. Earl Scofield; Mercedes—Mrs. Joseph Mythem; Franca—Mrs. Clinton Smith; Spanish Dancer—Miss Edith Ketel.

To Mrs. Myrtle Smith who accompanied this selection goes much of the credit for its success. The difficult pianoforte was handled perfectly by this talented lady.

The winners of the two scholarship awards offered by the club performed also, Katherine Garvin, winner of the musical award, singing "Memoria" by Hueter, and Sylvia Glimsburg reciting "The Dead Call" and "The Ministers Call". The club is very proud of these young prodigies.

Mrs. Karner gave a talk on "Federation Work" that was well received. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Credits Address Heard by Many on Local Radio Sets

Several groups of interested listeners gathered around the different radio sets last night and heard William Loewi, manager of the San Francisco Retail Credits Bureau, give a talk on "Credit and Credit Bureau's" broadcast from KPO.

During his address Loewi stated that, as an average of 95 per cent of the people were honest, credit could be carried on in an elaborate scale. Confidence, he pointed out, is the basis for all credit. He then explained the Credit Bureau in all the towns and showed how they helped the buyer as well as the consumer. The main office in San Francisco has 115,000 individual credit standings.

Loewi also said of the importance of cultivating good credits "they are the anchors to pin to in time of emergency, but if they are abused they become a millstone around your neck."

Richmond is known throughout the state for its fine credit bureau. Mrs. M. M. Jensen is the secretary.

Those who did not have the opportunity of hearing Loewi last night may have the pleasure of doing so next Monday at the St. Edmund's guild, when he will appear personally and speak on the credit bills now before the legislature. This will be an open meeting of the Merchants' association.

To hear the address here last night the members of the Business and Professional Women's club gathered at the homes of Dr. Rose Powell and Mrs. H. W. Bryant, while members of the Merchants' association met at Alexander's radio store.

HIGH-HEELED SPORT SHOES

THERE seems a general swinging away from the erstwhile favorite—the perfectly flat-heeled sport shoe. At any rate, in many girls' colleges here and there girls who have never worn anything but the very flat low heel save for "parties" are now wearing fairly high-heeled shoes for everything save actual sports or gym wear. For some time French women have considered a fairly high heel perfectly appropriate for the sports costume. They have even had high-heeled sports shoes.

Now word comes from England that women who took to the flat shoe as a duck to water are giving them up because they feel that such footwear robs them of "ankle charm"—something very important in this dress era. Moreover, the perfectly flat, broad-heeled shoe did not prove in every case to be a cure-all for every sort of foot discomfort. There are women whose feet simply are not made for such shoes. Many women complain that the flat-heeled shoe causes neuritis or similar pains about the feet and ankles.

When the jumper frock is worn without a coat this spring it will be smart to wear a little rose or other artificial flower at the left side of the collar or revers.

BAIL DENIED MILLIONAIRE ORPHAN HEIR

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 25.—William D. Shepherd's motion for bail was overruled by Judge Jacob Hopkins, chief justice of the Criminal Court, early tonight. Shepherd was remanded to jail to await trial.

Shepherd was indicted for murder in the first degree. It is charged he killed William N. McIntock, his millionaire ward, by feeding him typhoid germs.

The prosecution regards Judge Hopkins' decision as a great victory. Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney, said tonight. He promised the prosecution would be pushed with even greater vigor.

"It is plainly a hanging case," he said.

Judge Hopkins, in overruling the motion for bail held that proof of what the State charges is evident and that the presumption of guilt is great. He referred to Dr. C. C. Faiman, the co-defendant, who was indicted with Shepherd after he admitted he had given Shepherd the typhoid germs that were used to kill McIntock.

FAIMAN STORY CREDIBLE.

"Either the story of Dr. Faiman is incredible work of imagination or it is a story that can be believed. It is either improbable of itself or else it is reasonable of itself. It is not the province of this court to inquire into the credibility of this witness."

In the opening sentences of his opinion Judge Hopkins reviewed the testimony that had been said before him—the same identical testimony upon which the Grand Jury had returned its indictment. He said:

"The Grand Jury has indicted the defendant and another man for murder. According to this indictment, then, it is either a murder case or it is nothing. It could not be a manslaughter case."

"The constitution provides that all persons are entitled to bail except in capital cases, where proof is evident and presumption great. Consequently this situation resolves itself into a question of whether or not the proof is evident and the presumption great. For a jury there are other things to be taken into consideration."

TAKEN AS WARD AT 16

He then reviewed the testimony, which showed Shepherd had taken McIntock, as a child sixteen years ago, as his ward, that his ward died and left a million dollar estate and that Shepherd was the beneficiary under McIntock's will.

"There is no question of showing a motive or an opportunity, but they are admissible only as circumstantial evidence," Judge Hopkins said. "I agree with the State's Attorney that guilt is to be presumed."

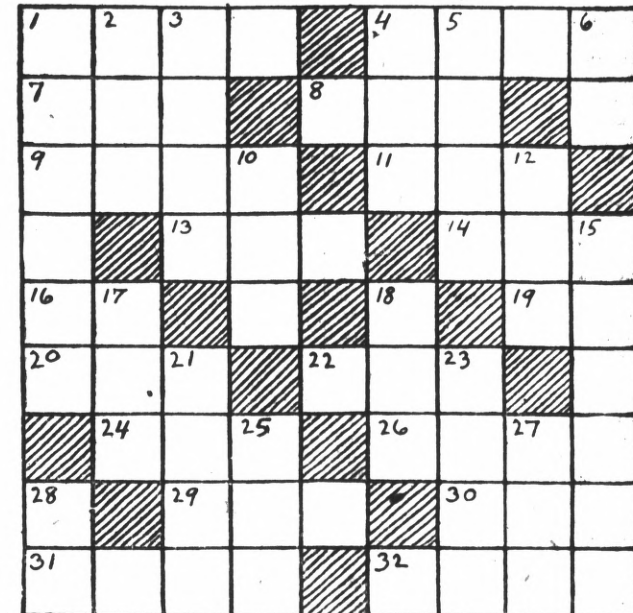

Judge Hopkins said he would admit that the indictment probably rested

Daily Cross Word Puzzle

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white space remain uninterruptedly.

MORE DETAILS OF MIX-UP HERE WITH FIREMEN AND POLICEMEN

Coach Ivan Hill, chief of the Richmond high school team, is thirsting for revenge. He declares yesterday that the defeat of his men at the hands of the fire-eaters this week did not set well, so he has issued a challenge for a return game with the fire-eaters, and has also issued an ultimatum to his ball tossers to the effect that if they do not win the return match the least thing he will do will be to disband the team.

The firemen received the deft with open arms and declared that they were only too glad to get another chance to have some batting, and (batting) practice with no chance of defeat. The game will be played some day next week, presumably next Wednesday.

Chief W. P. Cooper, widely known as the head of the Richmond Fire Department, in the future will have the team under his wing, and will take the most active part in its management. He stated that the lineup previously announced would probably be used throughout the season but the men will be shifted around to position that better fit their ability as players.

Two other good ball players will not be seen on the field on April 18. They are Eddie Baker, traffic officer, who is suffering from a fractured rib, and Wiley, who is confined to his home on account of illness.

Captain Shirley has expressed volumes of comment on the game, both pro and con. His listeners, however, are usually lulled to sleep by Cap's

W. S. McRackens To Play Alameda

The newly organized W. S. McRackens base ball club will open their 1925 season when they meet Saylor's Chocolates Ball club at Washington Park, Alameda.

The Saylor's were members of the Mid-Winter League. Manager Snowden will use the following players in this game: Taylor, Prolo, Matteri, O'Loan, Chattelton, Murphy, O'Rourke, Hollet, Robertson and Redding. Robertson and Redding are the pitchers of the outfit.

The question of the better ball also enters into this game to some extent. E. Kingstrey will not play ball at the request of his wife. He is a husbandly hand, and his wife is afraid that a severe unavoidable accident he would misplace an eye-brow and be disfigured for life.

Jimmie Eads, wife Marie, is very much in the game however. His wife informed him in no uncertain terms that if he failed to cut out a homer in the first inning, she would about him with a flat-iron upon his arrival home after the game.

WHERE IT STARTED

CLOTH BOOKBINDING
R. E. Lawson, of Blackfriars, London, was the first to use cloth as a material for binding books, and a manual volume of music was the first book to be bound in cloth. A diamond edition of the classics, published by Pickering, was the first set of books bound uniformly in cloth. Mr. Lawson does the work and issuing a set of 500 copies.

City Twilight Baseball League Is Organized

The Richmond City Twilight Baseball League became a reality last night, when the W. S. McRackens and the city firemen announced they would join the league and sent delegations to the meeting held in "Doc" Seawright's office.

Claire Horner was elected president of the league with "Doc" Seawright as secretary and Mark Wilson, publicity manager.

It was decided that each team should play each other team two games during the season, which begins April 12th, and that the games would be played at the First and Macdonald grounds on Monday, Tuesday and Friday, commencing at 5:30 the first two weeks and at 5:15 the remainder of the season.

A committee to arrange the league schedule were appointed, composed of Dick Ausin and D. R. Cock.

J. F. Deibel of Oakland was chosen official league umpire, to officiate in all games.

Morrison and Silen, an Oakland sporting goods house, have added spice to the race by offering a beautiful silver cup to the winning club, and individual gold baseball watch fobs to the individual members. A fielders glove will also be given by this firm to the man with the highest batting average.

It was also voted to send a letter of thanks to Manager French of the Standard Oil company for the use of the ball park.

The following teams will comprise the league: W. S. McRackens, Macdonald Trust Co., F. C. C. Merchants, Schneiders Tailors, City Firemen and the Santa Fe.

Richmond's Record Now Five Defeats Out of Six Games

The Richmond Union high school met with another defeat—the fifth in six games—in the encounter with Sacred Heart of San Francisco at the local diamond yesterday afternoon.

The Richmond gang went fine for the first four innings, scoring 5 runs to the opposition's 1, but at that time Sacred Heart started clouting the offerings of Murray, from that time on it was a case of the catcher signaling the pitcher what to throw, the pitcher throws it and then both regret it.

Before the game was over the San Francisco nine had run up a score of 13 runs while Richmond was eating dust with 6.

Following is the local lineup:
O'Brien, ss; Jones, lf; Captain Swenson, 3b; Pansch, cf; Guadoni, c; Chasseur, 2b; Lehmkuhl, 1b; Pimm, rf; and Murray, p.

Coach Hill declared after the game yesterday afternoon that in spite of the defeat he was pleased with the workings of his men. The old fight is beginning to come back, and the stick work is showing remarkable improvement. In view of this fact Hill declared that the Sacred Heart game was the last defeat for his men this season. Therefore he is confident of wallowing back Wimmering, back across the bay when they appear on the High School garden Saturday morning.

DRIVERS WITH OLD LICENSES TO BE ARRESTED

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—Beginning April 1st, traffic officers operating under the direction of the Division of Motor Vehicles will be given instructions to arrest any person driving an automobile on the public highways without 1925 license plates. This was announced today by Will H. Marsh, Chief of the Division, who stated he would shortly prepare a formal order for Chief Inspector C. K. Harder.

Marsh estimates that by the above date the division will have taken care of all applications for new plates now in the files and that ample time will have elapsed for motor vehicle owners to fasten them to their cars. License fees became delinquent March 2nd but application may still be made by paying the regular fee plus the penalties. Marsh urged all motorists who have not done so to make application at once and avoid arrest. Several thousand dollars have already been collected in delinquent fees.

Registrations to date for 1925, inclusive of automobiles, pneumatic and solid trucks, motorcycles and trailers approximate $1,200,000.

Proposed Fraternal Organization Bill Tabled in Assembly

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—Labor and fraternal organizations have succeeded in having assembly bill 467 tabled for the time at least, and if it is ever reported on the floor of the assembly, the general opinion is that it will be defeated. The proposed act would add a new section to the Civil code, to be known as Section 279, and would read as follows:

"Records of certain corporations and inspection thereof. Every religious, social, and benevolent corporation and every corporation incorporated to take an active part in social or political affairs, or to influence elections as to candidates or measures, or to take part in fostering or developing the ideals of the American people, or to promote or carry out benevolent, charitable, fraternal, eleemosynary or protective measures of any kind, and which may operate in this state or another state of the United States, or of a foreign country, or elsewhere, must keep a full and complete list of its membership, which must at all times be open for the inspection of any and every person who may demand an inspection thereof."

School Regulation Measure Tabled

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—The committee on education of the State assembly has tabled the bill of Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller, relating to schools, which means it will not be given consideration at this time of the legislature.

Said child may be excused at any hour of the day designated by said school authorities, provided that such child excused shall be held accountable for all work prescribed for his class."

Kiwanis Club to Be Organized at Meeting Tonight

Kiwanis club will be formally issued into Richmond tonight, when they meet in the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30. International Field Representative E. L. Lucas of San Diego, will be in charge of the meeting.

The total required membership of thirty-five will be on hand and everything points to a good start, Lucas states.

In explaining the club yesterday Lucas said that the club was organized along much the same lines as the Lions and the Rotary, inasmuch as it was a service club and established for the formation of character.

The principal difference, he explained, was that Kiwanis was a dual membership club, that is, each profession was allowed two members in the club instead of one as in the other organizations.

Lucas went on to explain that although this is one of the newest clubs in the United States that Kiwanis had 1300 clubs and over 100,000 members enrolled.

Practically all the towns around the north and east bay have strong clubs; California has 66 clubs, he declared.

Wendell Thomas, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of San Jose is the Lieutenant governor of this zone, while Abe Leach, of Oakland, is the Kiwanis governor of California and Nevada.
